Louie, the Brooklyn cabbie, is suddenly running for sheriff.

The Law, Rick Norris.

The Class of 1972 presented GIRL CRAZY under the direction of James W. Beebe on April 27, 28, and 29, 1972.

Left: Peggy Hurley as Molly and Dave Robinson as city boy Danny eventually bring East and West together.

You see, Danny inherited a run-down ranch and with it all sorts of problems.

(Below) Louie? and Lank (Albert Sheldon) tête-à-tête and fight. Rose (Shirley Klym), Tess (Joan Sullivan), Janet (Jane Weaver), Betty (Elaine Yannone), and Jake are on Louie's side.

Will Louie be hanged?

Rose loves Louie.

Eaglerock (Bill Passetti) accepts Louie into tribe.

CRAZY

Danny's dude ranch features entertainment by Cynthia Cizike, Cinthia Davidson, Lynne Murphy, and Carol Slocum.

Student Director Keith Robinson was assisted by Carol Radicchi, Pam Hand, Pam Haley. Most seniors and several faculty members had a hand in the production. There were dancers, singers, crew members, costume workers, musicians, ushers, ticket sellers all in the act.

Left: Oldtimer Jake (David Entrot) and cabbie Louie (Gary Krall) keep things going. They are assisted by ranch hands Cactus (Roger Ackley) and Lucky (Tim Westbrook).

Above: Bad boy Sam (Terry Nomnicht)

Right: In the end the good guys triumph and the bad guys lose. Lank, his henchman Pete (Peter Serman), city slicker Sam pay the price. Danny, Molly, Jake and guests are happy.

Louie teaches Lank a lesson.

Trying to understand.

Free speech has limits.
